Cyprus-escapes were founded in 2004 by Roy Weatherby. This follows over 20 years working in the financial services managing client's pensions and investment portfolios. In addition, over the previous ten years having a personal interest in the property market, starting with a strategy involving the UK buy to let market. This followed by conducting heavy research into the Cyprus property market which has now evolved into a merging strategy where we have a combination of ownership regarding our holiday home in Cyprus together with off plan buy to let and buys to sell properties in both the UK and Cyprus markets which has substantially increased into a healthy investment portfolio.

Having substantially researched all the developers used and having first hand experience in Cyprus, we offer a property sales consultancy from start to occupation.

Based in the North West, the company has developed strong relationships with a number of developers and associates'; being independent ensures an unbiased approach. It is important to us that for our clients, every part of the process of buying through Cyprus-escapes should be transparent, straightforward and easy to understand with no hard sell. Our staff works for the client with no financial commitment, no obligations and we make no charge to our clients. This process is especially designed for those clients who require the personal touch.

The properties for sale pages contain researched and selected properties from our chosen panel of quality developers. The properties available show all type of projects both ready for occupation and many off-plan opportunities.
