

Happy Customers

Having never visited Cyprus but with an idea that it was place worth investing in, Cyprus escape's Director, Roy planned a day's orientation for us where we were able to view different areas and different types of property and discuss what we wanted and didn't want. He was then able to match us to the most appropriate builders and properties so that we did not waste time. We were lucky, because we found exactly the right property for us, but there was never any pressure from Cyprus escapes to take anything less than what we wanted. Once we decided on a property, Cyprus escapes directed us to the appropriate people in Cyprus to help with finance and legal stuff and we felt safe in the knowledge that all these people have been vetted and tried by Cyprus escapes. We are back in the UK and Cyprus escapes continue to offer us advice and support for this venture. If you are nervous about buying abroad, but want to realise your dream without pressure and with reliable advice we can recommend that you try Cyprus escapes.

Following our Cyprus dream!

We have been thinking of settling in Cyprus for 3 years or more, so this is not something that came out of the blue. We have watched many television programmes on relocating to Cyprus and have attended several property seminars and I must admit all the information was clouding our brains. Last year we met Roy from Cyprus-escapes who detailed without demand the process of purchasing property in Cyprus and were we glad! Over the past year the Cyprus-escapes website has regularly updated us on what property is available. On our second visit this February Roy arranged a 3-day viewing schedule to deadline, with a selection of different property developers all to our preference. Roy controlled all the viewings, developers and responses, which took the pressure away from us. It didn't take long for us to decide the property of our dreams among all of the fabulous choices. Once we were personally introduced to the relevant legal people who were recommended by Roy, our plans just seem to speed ahead. Documents and papers were dealt with quickly and effortlessly in a most professional manner, we felt extremely relaxed. We are now the proud owners of a beautiful villa and an apartment in a prosperous area of Paphos and are looking forward to moving there in July. We could not have done all of this without the advice and assistance of Roy Weatherby from Cyprus-escapes, whom we have maintained a close friendship with and I hope which will continue. We found Cyprus-escapes to be very efficient, informative and attentive. He has a personal interest in everything you require and has all the right contacts from trusted developers to professional lawyers within Cyprus. I would recommend Cyprus-escapes to anyone who has plans to relocate to Cyprus as I know they will receive a personal trustworthy service.

Efharisto Roy!!
